BANKING by mail is now an accomplished fact, in successful operation in many cities.

The Old Colony Trust Company has adopted a system which makes it easy for its out-of-town depositors to open accounts and transact business by mail. Deposits sent by mail may be in the form of money orders or checks, and they are acknowledged the day they are received. It is not necessary to send the pass-book with deposits, or to be balanced, as, on request, statements are mailed showing the balance on the last day of each month, and the cancelled checks are returned at the same time.

This system is a great convenience to those who come to Boston infrequently.

THE safe deposit vaults at both offices are of the most modern type, and the price of the boxes, ranging from $10 to $100 a year, is adjusted to suit those of small or large means. The vaults are guarded night and day by armed watchmen, and are burglar, fire, and water-proof. The use of a safe deposit box insures the safety of its contents, and the coupon rooms afford great privacy for inspecting them.

CHARLES FROHMAN Presents

FRANCIS WILSON
IN"Cousin Billy"

Followed by the one act play

"The Little Father of the Wilderness"

Matinees Saturdays and Christmas Day

Charles Frohman presents Francis Wilson, the famous fun maker of musical comedy, in two new comedies without music, one in three acts by Clyde Fitch, the other in one act, the work of Austin Strong and Lloyd Osbourne. Mr. Fitch's play gives Mr. Wilson in the character of Cousin Billy all the scope required for the display of his diverting and clever methods as a laugh maker. Mr. Wilson's stage work has an irresistible quality that makes him and the rôle he plays interesting and amusing every moment he is on the stage. As Cousin Billy it is promised that he will be able to give full play to his entertaining powers as a comedian, so the result cannot be other than gratifying to his already immense host of admirers. He will be surrounded by a capable company of Mr. Frohman's selection.

"The Little Father of the Wilderness," the one-act play which will follow "Cousin Billy," enables Mr. Wilson to be seen in a character that is in strong contrast to Cousin Billy. Its scenes are laid in the Palace of Versailles, France, during the reign of Louis XV. The company supporting Mr. Wilson includes May Robson, Edith Barker, William Lewers, George S. Spencer, Rosa Cooke, Zelda Sears, Elsa Gsrrett, Sydney Rice and Charles J. Greene.

Common Sense

It is common sense and good business to take care of your teeth

What is considered among scientific men as one of the greatest and most promising advances of the Twentieth Century is the greater care and attention given by the general public to the hygiene of the mouth and teeth.

It is a well established fact among scientists, and is fast becoming recognized by the public at large, that most of the ills the mouth is heir to are confined to the teeth.

The decay of the teeth is due to one or more of three causes, viz.: the presence of deleterious and destructive germs (found in 1880 by Sternberg to be present in twenty per cent of the healthy mouths examined), acid secretions of the mouth, and poor health in general.

With the end in view of combating these causes, Barker's Antiseptic Dental Wash and Tooth Powder have been devised and offered to the public as par excellence the Twentieth Century dentifrice.

Their antiseptic properties have been combined by the highest skill in pharmaceutical technique in such a manner as to conserve the normal structure of the teeth and leave them absolutely free from harm.

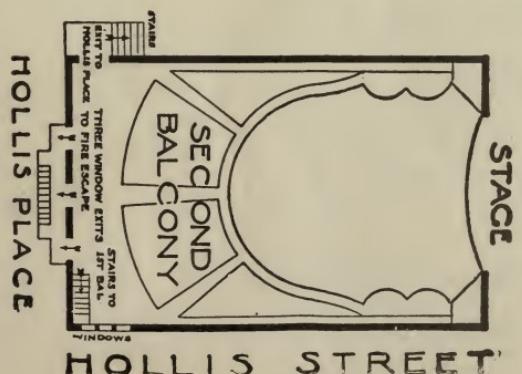

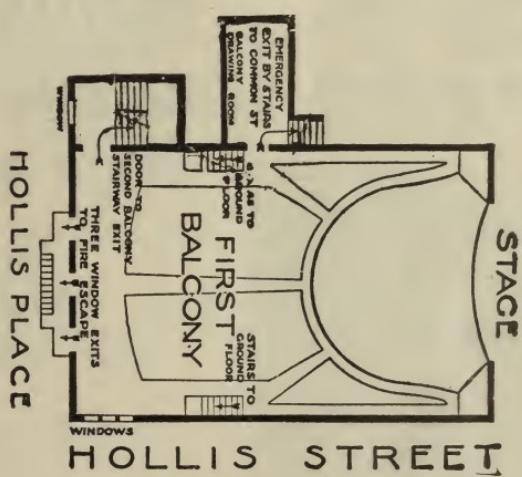

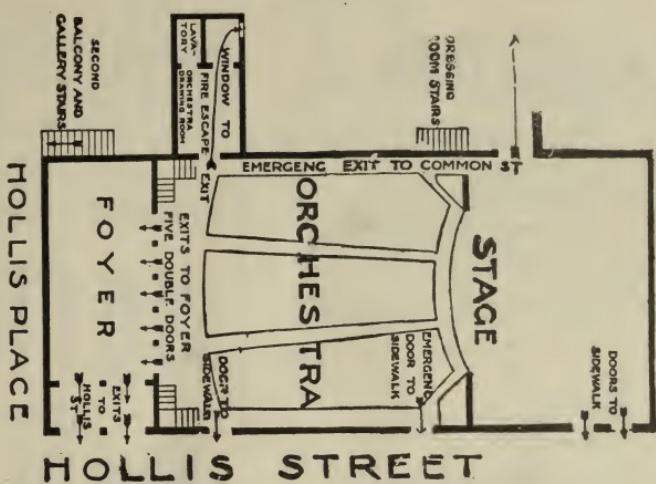

They are used and recommended by physicians, dentists, chemists and professional people.

"From our examination and from our knowledge of the ingredients of these preparations, we consider them both valuable agents in the preservation of the teeth and the hygienic care of the mouth."

THE receipt of a legacy by a person inexperienced in business affairs often brings with it considerable worry and care, for to produce an income the money must be invested, and the selection of investments or the determination of whose advice to follow in their selection entails a great responsibility.

The Old Colony Trust Company will receive legacies or other funds as agent, make investments and reinvestments in its discretion, pay over the income at stated intervals, and at any time, when desired by the owner, turn over to him the fund as it then stands. In this way the legacy or fund may receive every care that experience and responsibility can give, without in any way changing its ownership. The officers of the Old Colony Trust Company are glad to receive inquiries in regard to the establishment of such agencies, and to explain the conditions under which the work is undertaken.

OF the many reasons why a person owning property should make a will, the following are perhaps the more important:

It enables the testator to select those who shall administer his estate, instead of leaving their appointment to the Court.

It enables the testator to give his executor powers of disposition of the property which an administrator does not have, thereby saving delays and expense caused by constant applications to the Court for authority to do things which are often necessary to settle the estate.

It enables a testator leaving minor children to select their guardian, instead of leaving the appointment to the Court.

It enables the testator to leave property in trust for wife, children, and others, choosing for himself those who are to hold and manage the same.

It leaves the estate in charge of certain persons from the time of the death of the testator, and often saves serious delays and family jealousies and disputes.

In the case of a man, it saves his widow the hardship of having at once to take up property questions and business responsibilities.

The Old Colony Trust Company is prepared to act as guardian, or as administrator of estates, as executor under wills, and as trustee under wills or agreements. Its officers are ready at all times to confer with persons intending to make wills, and are glad to discuss the establishment of trusts of any character, whether the property involved be small or large.

Briggs—I have promised never to touch liquor again if she will marry me.

Griggs—Don't you hate to have to break your promise?

"Do you think we shall ever have universal peace?"

"Perhaps," replied Mr. Henpeck with a sad, far away look, "but it'll not come in my time."

Staylate—Well, I must think about going.

Miss Weerie—Oh! why must you "think" about it?

"Where's the free public library in this town?"

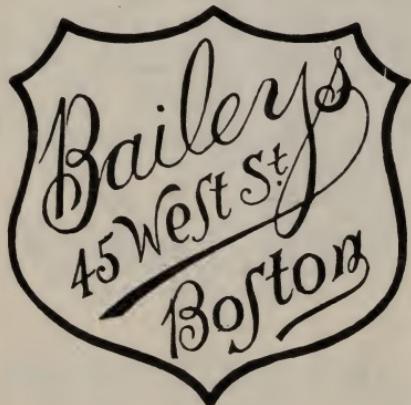

"Are you looking for knowledge?"

DO YOU WONDER

that Velvet has come to stay as a fashionable dress fabric, when it is the most beautiful of all fabrics for Fall and Winter wear? Of course, there are Velvets and Velvets, but among them all VELUTINA stands pre-eminently and deservedly first, on account of its undisputed superiority. VELUTINA is noted for its own peculiar beauty, and for its draping qualities, which no silk Velvet can equal.

Made in 150 shades—all absolutely fast colors.

At all the large dry goods stores.

Look for Name on Selvage.

The peculiar beauty and lustre of VELUTINA is best maintained by using a soft close fitting lining in the skirt.

THE FAMOUS

KOH-I-NOOR PENCILS

ARE THE MOST ECONOMICAL

One "Koh-i-noor" will outlast more than six ordinary pencils.

"Koh-i-noor" Pencils retain their point.

"Koh-i-noor" Pencils do not break or smear.

"Koh-i-noor" Pencils contain no grit and therefore write smoothly.

"Koh-i-noor" Pencils are made in 17 degrees to suit all purposes.

"Koh-i-noor" Pencils cost 10 cents each, or $1.00 per dozen.

Is your pencil a "Koh-i-noor" or only an imitation?
